

I'm here for their law. The chained dogs.

"The world is a dangerous place, not because of those who do evil, but because of those who look on and do nothing."—Albert Einstein

Open Letter to PA State Senators and House Reps

Knock, knock. I'm here for the law for the chained dogs? You've probably just been busy. I know how that goes, I've been busy too. But thing is, here we are almost at the end of another legislative session, and the dogs still have no law to protect them.

It's not right.

So I've come to remind you.

I'm here for their law.

I intend to stay awhile, and I'm hoping that, together, we can get this thing done. Time is short, and they've suffered enough.

Yeah, I know I should be doing other things. A million other things, like having a life, working on other DDB campaigns. Rescuing chained dogs, one at a time, from those few who see the light or want a convenient place to dump their garbage. Even spending time with my family would be nice. Dinner for Schmucks just came out this week—it looks really funny—and the Carmike near my house has $1.00 sodas on Tuesday.

But, I can't get away from the nagging thought that they've still got nothing. We've waited six years for a law for them. Through HB1911, HB1065, HB1254, the Casorio/Caltigirone bill we were promised but never materialized this March, and now SB1435. It's been exhausting!

And yet, here we are still without a tool to help them, and they are still suffering. Many waited their entire lives for help that never came, and have now turned to dust, having never known a kind word or the kiss of love.

Maybe it doesn't matter to you, but it matters to me, it matters to the majority of Pennsylvania dog lovers, and most importantly, it matters to them.

Have I mentioned yet how the chained dogs are suffering? As they suffer, so will I bring that suffering to you. As they stay shackled to one grassless spot 24 hours each day, I will stay chained in front of OUR Capitol (Yes, I believe the Capitol belongs to me too) for ten hours Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-6 p.m. As they go without food and water, so will I fast each week from Monday-Friday. And as they are subjected to the elements, so will I be drenched when it rains, wilt in the summer heat, and shiver in the cold of approaching winter.

So that you may begin to really UNDERSTAND their suffering, I am bringing it to you. Let's get this thing done. I'm here for their law. —Tamira Ci Thyayne, founder, Dogs Deserve Better

Find your Senator and House Rep at: <http://www.legis.state.pa.us/>
Please contact them TODAY and tell them "I'm here for their law."
Remember, they work FOR us. Insist that they support HB1435.
FidosFreedom.com • UnchainPADogs.com • DogsDeserveBetter.org

Can you donate to keep this activist campaign going? Thank you!
Visit FidosFreedom.com or mail check or money order made out to
Dogs Deserve Better to DDB, P.O. Box 23, Tipton, PA 16684

Pennsylvania dogs have waited their entire lives for a law which would provide them relief. To date, they've all died on the end of a chain, still waiting for help that never came. No more!

Children die as a result of chained dog attacks. If HB1065 has passed last session, Brianna would still be alive today. MothersAgainstDog-Chaining.org logs cases making the news.

"We've forgotten the history of our country, if we've forgotten how to agitate when it is necessary."—Woodrow Wilson, Sept. 9, 1916